Why this set

Work OS competing with Notion (docs/wiki/AI) and Linear-class issue tracking. Notion AI for Work bundling + Linear price rise are both relevant peer moves.

Competitors below are public SaaS peers Pricewatch already monitors — chosen as a useful comparison set for this outreach draft, not a claim about your exact competitive set.

Documented moves relevant to this set

Linear: Basic $8→$10, Business $14→$16; legacy Plus/Standard retiring

Live pricing extract on 2 Nov 2026 shows Basic at $10 and Business-tier signals at $16 — matching the late-2025 list-price uplift. Separately, Linear is migrating all workspaces off legacy Plus/Standard onto Basic/Business/Enterprise at the next renewal after 1 Feb 2026.

Impact: Medium–High for eng-tool buyers and anyone still on grandfathered Plus/Standard. Expect renewal sticker shock and feature-gap questions (SAML, triage, private teams).

Notion: AI for Work bundled; Business list price now ~$20/user

Notion’s 13 May 2025 ‘AI for Work’ launch bundled Meeting Notes, Enterprise Search, and Research Mode into paid plans. New subscriptions took updated Business/Enterprise pricing immediately; existing customers saw changes at first renewal after 13 Aug 2025. Today’s snapshot no longer surfaces a separate Notion AI add-on — AI is the package, not the upsell.

Impact: High for teams that stacked Notion + separate AI write/search tools. Positioning shift: all-in-one AI workspace vs à-la-carte add-on.
